A funny, heart-warming picture book about a friendship between Tiger and Tail-flower, dandelion.

There is a Tiger who is mischievous and likes to scare other animals in the forest. One day, something falls from the sky, which is a meddlesome dandelion, and it sticks to Tiger's tail. From that moment, Tiger has to accompany the yellow, talkative Tail-flower saying hello to everyone and loving to help with animals in need even though Tiger never wants to do. But, thanks to the Tail-flower, Tiger is starting to be accepted part of forest animals.

They are getting used to each other. However, one to come, and one to go. When dandepuff flies up into the night sky in order to save Tiger, it is beautiful and quite touching. Friends patting on the Tiger's back to comfort him in grief and Tiger appearing in flower garden to see dandelion inspire readers with love and friendship.
