Ragazzi Award Winner Wonhee Jo returns with amusing new book of a cat that gets what he wants for house chores

A humorous story of a fluffy, yet intelligent cat that demands fresh mackerel for house chores

A picture book that reminds all-aged readers of what it is to be a family

Meow! A yellow fluffy cat appears out of nowhere to rescue mom from overwhelming piles of house chores.

BUT, OF COURSE! This clever cat isn't helping out for free! This cat orders fresh delicious mackerel for each of the house chores.

Thanks to this new maid, mom finally has some time to herself.

However, this peace does not last for a long time – mom starts to grow fur and tail!

Mom's gradually becoming a cat! However, the sad thing is, dad is way too busy to realize such an odd occurrence!

Will dad one day realize his “cat-wife?” Can he turn all things back to normal?

Author Information

The famous award-winning illustrator Won-hee, Jo gave readers her impressive artwork. She earned an honorable mention in 2017 Bologna Ragazzi Awards for her picture book <TEETH HUNTERS>. She has illustrated many books for children and all of her works were widely loved.

Chae-wan, Kim, is known for an intense cat-lover that she would stop to feed the stray cats. The yellow cat in this book is actually a resemblance of one of the cats that she fed in the middle of the street. She now lives with her family and a cat named Soonduk.
