Introducing the 'Story Black' series, designed to captivate children's curiosity and lead them on a journey that blurs the line between fantasy and reality. Within its pages lies a world that is both strange and mysterious, yet heartwarming, offering a compelling narrative that carries a thought-provoking message echoing some of society's most controversial contemporary issues.

<Unfamiliar Footstep>

One day, Gi-ju hears the sounds of children playing and laughing upstairs. The peculiar part is that her only neighbor is an elderly lady who lives alone. Fueled by curiosity, Gi-ju decides to follow the faint footsteps, despite her twin sister's attempts to dissuade her.

In her pursuit, Gi-ju unveils a disconcerting sight: a suspicious individual fixated on the children in the neighborhood. However, the family does not take her words at all and instead, they advise her to study like her sister, Gi-yeon. Frustrated, Gi-ju makes a risky choice...

This book portrays the competitive psychology between twins/siblings. The fast-paced development and spine-chilling adventure against ghosts would draw readers into the story in an instant.
