Christmas for Everyone

Kimjourney

170 x 235 mm | 52 pages | November 2024

Every Christmas, Summer secretly becomes Santa Claus. This year, however, she decides to do something special: become Santa for adults. First, she sets very strict criteria for her gift recipients: they must be adults who have no one to complain to, no one to play with, and who don't believe in Christmas. Will Summer's Santa project be a success? This heartwarming tale is a Christmas miracle that brings hope to children and restores the magic of Christmas for adults.

Monday Mornings

Ji-na Moon

225 x 270 mm | 44 pages | May 2024

A picture book vividly illustrates the hustle and bustle of a family's hectic Monday morning through imagination. On an ordinary rainy Monday morning, grumpy family gathers for breakfast, unaware of the adventure ahead. A broken egg turns into a river, and water poured into a cup creates a waterfall. Everyday objects falling to the ground create swirling waters that lead the family into a vast imaginary world. This whimsical adventure brings a sense of freedom and renewal, preparing them to face the day with an open mind.

Wish for Long Hair

Hyeon-rye Kim

190 x 260 mm | 44 pages | January 2025

A child with short, sparse hair like grass has a big wish: to grow long hair. The child imagines all the things she could do with long hair: making a spiky bubble hairdo, using it as a music score to create a song, saving friends in danger, flying high in the sky, and connecting with friends all over the world. However, she ends up cutting her hair short... For what? This heartwarming story, based on the author's own experiences, is both adorable and touching, and it will make readers reflect on the meaning of friendship.

Summer Forest

Summer-forest

210 x 270 mm | 60 pages | July 2024

This heartwarming picture book welcomes you to a refreshing green forest, providing an escape from the unpleasant gray world. In the summer scorching forest, everyone enjoys a quiet nap under the gentle breeze, except for one free-spirited cat. A young girl enters the forest, exploring mushroom and moss-covered landscapes. Suddenly, a sun shower falls silently. In this magical moment, the girl and the cat meet, and she friendly asks, "Would you like to be my friend?" This story captures the joy of finding understanding and offers a refreshing sensory experience, evoking the feeling of walking through a pleasant forest.

Gum and Wrapper

Jeong-yun Heo
TBC | TBC | TBC

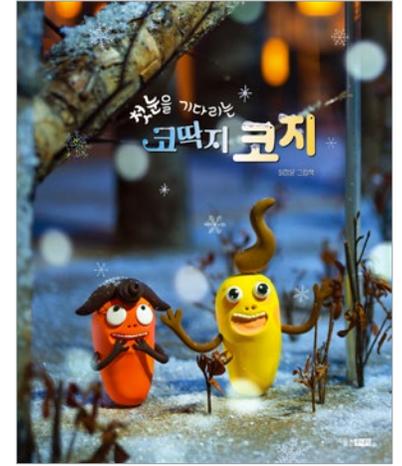

Join Gum, a discarded piece of gum, and Wrapper, its companion, in an adventure after their sweetness fades. When the wind blows away Wrapper, Gum sets off to find it. Along the way, encounters with a mole family, a bee, and a snail provide no answers. Tired and lonely, Gum helps a trapped sparrow and receives a clue. Determined, Gum faces hardships and finally reunites with Wrapper. This paper art-illustrated picture book by Jeong-yun Heo, author of "I am Booger, Nosy", celebrates friendship and turning challenges into adventures.

Booger Nosy's First Snowfall

Never-before-seen Fruit

Dong-wan Nam

203 x 260 mm | 44 pages | September 2024

While playing hide-and-seek in the forest, animals discover a strange, never-before-seen fruit. But something seems odd about this unfamiliar fruit—it keeps changing its shape according to what the animals say and think! They start discussing what the fruit could be... What is this mysterious fruit? Could it be an alien transforming to attack them? Or maybe a bomb about to explode? This picture book explores how our thoughts and intentions shape reality, showing that our perspectives influence everything we see.

Cocoon Fairy Mayu

Yeo-rim Yoon, Aiko Matsuo

245 x 200 mm | 76 pages | August 2024

A picture book that showcases the adorable life of Mayu, a silkworm cocoon living in a natural field, through the four seasons. Small, white, and fluffy, Mayu is a fairy born from a silkworm cocoon. She eats rays of sunlight mixed with morning dew, kisses flower buds she encounters on her walks, and takes naps on flowers while listening to the lullaby of the wind. This picture book brings happiness to all tired readers through Mayu's warm and gentle words about how she loves the forest, her friends, and herself, even though she does not have wings to fly.

Fever

Young-rim Lee

218 x 272 mm | 72 pages | September 2024

When the siren goes off in the command room, the fire trucks are dispatched, and the firefighters are busy extinguishing the heat with hose. What is the true nature of the disaster they are facing? Will it be over soon? This clever comic picture book captures the experience of a parent caring for a child, groaning from a high fever. It stands out for its rapid scene transitions, reminiscent of watching a video.

Every Day to You

Sook-hee Choi

233 x 305 mm | 52 pages | September 2024

“What kind of dream do you want to have? Spread your wings as you wish.”, “Don’t hide and cry. You can cry whenever you want.”, “I am so grateful for the way you are.” This beautiful picture book, like a poem, contains words of love, courage, and support—words you would want to say to a child bravely facing the world and growing every day, as well as memories you want to share.

When You Eat Beans

Hye-jin Kim

218 x 293 mm | 48 pages | November 2024

They say eating beans makes me grow tall, but I hate beans! Adults keep telling me to eat them, so I decided to feed a spoonful of beans to my baby brother, who eats everything! After eating the beans and growing big, my baby brother lifts a running car, puts out a fire, and even waves to people on tall buildings. Seeing my little brother do things I couldn’t, I think to myself, “Maybe I will try eating beans tomorrow.”

Hurray Cactus

Ju-hyeon Cho

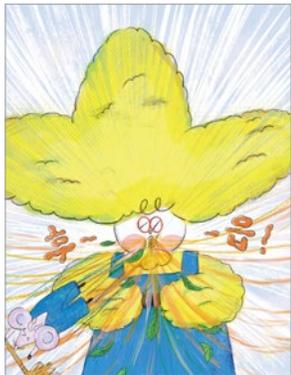

170 x 254 mm | 44 pages | TBC

The girl is curious about the cactus. Since her cactus only needs a little water to survive, could it be oceans filled with water? Or, since it purifies the air, could it be a forest? Or, since it grows green, could it be an artist? Why does the cactus say 'hurray' all day long? The more the girl looks at the cactus, the more mysterious it becomes.

When we look closely at ordinary things, new stories emerge. Let's share our stories with the 'Hurray Cactus,' who has its hands by its ears because it loves listening! 'Hurray Cactus' is a picture book that brightens readers' hearts with its cheerful energy.

Chatty Cat English

This picture book collection teaches practical English through everyday vocabulary and conversational expressions. Written by bestselling international authors and educational experts, it features engaging stories and vibrant international illustrations. The three-step speaking play—chanting, singing, and using speaking cards—helps children build speaking skills and confidence. The curriculum, based on the U.S. early childhood education system, covers essential vocabulary and diverse topics for pre-elementary learners.

- Practical, real-life English
